

CALL FOR PROPOSALS
CO-SUPERVISED
DOCTORATES 2020
GHENT UNIVERSITY

6 co-supervised doctorates with the aim of strengthening cooperation between I-SITE ULNE and Ghent University.

Four PhD projects will be funded on the French side (via the present call) and two PhD projects on the Belgian side.

Interested applicants may submit a thesis project in any subject field with one or more (co-)promotors from Ghent University. The PhD candidates selected via the present call will be principally attached to the research team of the promotor associated with I-SITE ULNE. Successful candidates must carry out at least six months in the research unit of the Ghent University promotor during the three years of the doctorate. Following a successful doctoral defence, the PhD candidate will obtain a doctoral degree from each institution.

PhD applicants must submit their application by email to the following address: international@isite-ulne.fr, by April 29, 2020 (2:00 PM, Paris time).

1. Framework

I-SITE ULNE is a consortium composed of the following members: University of Lille, Centrale Lille Institut, ENSAIT, IMT Lille-Douai, Sciences Po Lille, ESJ, ENSAPL, ENSAM Campus de Lille, CNRS, INSERM, INRIA, CHU de Lille and Institut Pasteur de Lille. In 2017, this consortium received a prestigious I-SITE grant from the French government in order to create a new world-class university through sustaining and expanding excellence in research and education.

In the context of an increasingly competitive international university landscape, reinforcing collaborations is decisive. I-SITE ULNE is eager to engage in international collaborations, in which Ghent University has agreed to become an external partner.

As part of this collaboration between the members of I-SITE ULNE and Ghent University, a total of 6 co-supervised doctorates (co-tutelles) will be financed (4 by I-SITE ULNE via the present call and 2 by Ghent University).

2. Eligibility criteria

PhD Candidate

- ✎ The applicant should hold a master's degree or equivalent (minimum of 5 years of post-secondary education) before the start of the doctorate.
- ✎ There are no restrictions on nationality or age.
- ✎ The applicant should have an English level of B2 or higher at the start of the PhD.

Project

- ✎ The thesis topic is open to any subject field covered by the members of I-SITE ULNE and Ghent University.
- ✎ The project must be submitted in English.
- ✎ The PhD candidate must have at least one promotor from a member of I-SITE ULNE¹ and one from Ghent University. He/She may also have an additional co-promotor from each institution.

GHENT UNIVERSITY

Promotors and co-promotors

- At least one (co-)promotor from I-SITE ULNE must be qualified (habilité) to direct doctoral research.
- At least one (co-)promotor from Ghent University must be a member of the tenured academic staff (Zelfstandig Academisch Personeel) or a visiting professor with a research assignment.

3. Selection process

Only proposals submitted before the deadline are eligible. A PhD candidate should apply to this call if he/she wants to spend the majority of his/her time in a unit research of an I-SITE ULNE member. Candidates whose project requires a longer stay at Ghent University should apply through the Ghent University call

All projects eligible for this call will be evaluated by a selection committee in three areas: the academic profile of the PhD candidate, the profile of the promotors and co-promotors and the scientific quality of project.

Interested applicants may apply to both the I-SITE ULNE and the Ghent University calls. However, any PhD candidate who applies to both calls (the present call and the call of Ghent University) will not be considered by Ghent University if he/she is a laureate of the present call.

The evaluation will be carried out according to the following criteria:

1) PhD candidate

- Previous academic performance
- Motivation
- Proficiency in English
- Prior scientific publications

2) Promotors and co-promotors

- Skills, expertise and commitment of the (co-)promotors
- Research results

3) Project proposal

- Quality and originality of the project
- Implementation of the project
- Impacts of the project

If the PhD candidate is selected:

- A partnership agreement will be set up between Ghent University, the I-SITE ULNE member and the doctoral candidate that stipulates the details of the collaboration in line with the current call and the doctoral training program.
- He/She must enroll as a doctoral student at both institutions and carry out at least 6 months of doctoral research at Ghent University.
- Project monitoring will be carried out via an annual report.

4. Calendar and submission process

Deadline for research project submission: April 29, 2020 (2:00 PM, Paris time)
